

Flood Mitigation: Making physical protection a priority

webinar

Date and time:

November 8, 2017
1:00 p.m. AEDT (Australian Eastern Daylight Time)

Adjust for your time zone accordingly if joining from outside Australia.

Presenters:

Simon van Maanen,
*senior consultant engineer,
flood*

Vikki Dodds,
client learning specialist

Description:

Most flood events are inevitable and therefore predictable. As such, losses due to flood should be preventable yet flood is the costliest natural hazard in terms of property damage and business interruption. Australia and New Zealand are not immune to this peril and by understanding your flood exposure, steps can be taken to eliminate or reduce the extent of the damage and impact on your business.

What variables have an impact on the damage caused by a flood? What options offer permanent flood protection? And what is the difference between temporary flood protection used in an emergency and permanent protection?

This webinar will provide answers to these questions, as well as refresh your understanding of what to include in your flood emergency response plans. It will help you identify the critical risks associated with flooding so you can incorporate physical solutions to better protect your facilities.

Target audience:

This webinar is intended for anyone in your organisation that is responsible for flood risk management.

This webinar will cover:

- Why it's important to consider physical solutions when developing your flood risk management strategies.
- Examples of how to keep water out and reduce the potential business interruption at flood-affected facilities.
- Key components of a robust flood response plan.
- Resources available to you for establishing flood scenarios and selecting the right engineered solution.

To register:

Click on this link to access the webinar event registration page.

After you have completed and submitted the requested details, you will receive a confirmation email with further details on how to join the event online, including a calendar appointment and telephone numbers for audio connection.

About FM Global

FM Global is one of the world's largest commercial and industrial property insurance and risk management organisations specialising in property protection.

More than one out of every three Fortune 1000 companies, as well as leading international corporations, benefit from FM Global's superior financial strength, policy coverage, risk management skills and extensive expertise in loss prevention engineering and research.

